背景 Background

May was born in Hong Kong and received her earlier education at Munsang College. At the age of 17, after finishing the HKCEE, May decided to pursue her studies in Britain. She did her A-Levels in a boarding school, Bootham School, in York. With excellent academic results, she entered the University of Cambridge to read civil engineering and became a member of Downing College in 1996. May obtained BA and MEng degrees in 2000 and continued to pursue a doctoral degree at the University of Cambridge to research in environmental engineering. She obtained her PhD in 2005 with accomplishments including a list of publications. May is a professional environmental engineer based in Birmingham, UK and has been working at leisure to provide guardianship and education advices to Chinese students studying in the UK.
